JFK, Gromyko Meet to Talk Over Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy confers wiht Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today in a White House meeting that foreshadows a Kennedy conference with Premier Khrushchev on the Berlin crisis next month.

Khrushchev has in effect made known to Kennedy through Foy Kohler the new U.S. ambassador to Moscow that he is very interested in a face-to-face discussion of the Berlin dispute with the President.

Kennedy has already decided to see Khrushchev if as expected here the Soviet premier goes through with the decision to visit the United States to attend the U.N General Assembly. Gromko who came here from New York Wednesday is due at the White House in late afternoon. After seeing Kennedy he is scheduled to spend the evening with Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a "working dinner" attended also by U.S. and Soviet policy advisers.

The White House session here follows by two days a Moscow conference between Khrushchev and Kohler. It was learned that Khrushchev indicated to the new American envoy that he considers more discussions on the Berlin situation to be desirable. He also clearly indicated that he considers a personal talk between himself and Kennedy to be advisable.

While Khrushchev underscored his long-standing demand for withdrawal of U.S. British and French troops from West Berlin the atmosphere of his conversation with Kohler was reported to have been easy and relaxed and devoid of any sense of immediate crisis or imminent deadline. Kohler made a full report of the talk to Washington for the information of Kennedy Rusk and their top advisers.

Kennedy was expected to emphasize strongly in his meeting with Gromyko that Khrushchev's insistence on removal of Western forces from Berlin is totally unacceptable and that the Western powers are completely agreed on defending West Berlin and its military and civilian supply lines against any kind of Communist move against them.

Top U.S. officials actually see no prospect at the moment of reaching any kind of accord with the Soviets on West Berlin's future but they are strongly in favor of continued exploratory discussions aimed at some understanding which would reduce the tensions.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder reflected this view when he left the White House Wednesday after a 90-minute meeting with the President. He declined to predict the results of a Kennedy-Khrushchev conference but said: "Talks on such problems are better than fight."

Schroeder wound up his Washington discussions on Allied strategy for meeting any new Berlin challenge by the Soviets with a statement that the President and he "find ourselves in agreement on the assessment of the Berlin situation and on the method to be applied to meet the situation."

Schroeder is returning to Bonn today to report to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and to begin preparations for Adenauer's trip here to discuss Berlin issues personally with Kennedy on Nov. 7 the day after U.S. congressional elections.

Air-Purifiers Seized by U.S.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Seizure of 187 units of so-called air-purifiers was announced Wednesday by the Food and Drug Administration which is waging a campaign against claims that the devices are good for treating or preventing diseases.

The announcement said five different brand names were involved. The seizures were made in five states including Arkansas during the past month the FDA said.

Ten Tubin Ion-o-matic Air Improvers were seized Sept. 13 from a warehouse in Newport.

PINE BLUFF Ark. (AP) — Chancellor Lawrence Dawson was told Wednesday that apparently none of J. Thurmon McCool's $38000 estate will be left to satisfy claims of 81 creditors who have filed claims against it.

R. E. Eilbott attorney for the estate said McCool's widow is legally entitled to a dower of $1200—one third of her husband's real and personal property —plus $1000 in statutory allowance.

After Mrs. McCool's share is deducted Eilbott said the estate must pay funeral expenses of $800 administrative expense of $4700 court costs of $150 and a U.S. government claim of $18,000 for back taxes before any of the commercial creditors can get any money.

That would take the entire estate Eilbott said and the government may have to forego part of its claim.

McCool a Pine Bluff businessman was found shot to death near Sheridan last Jan. 8. The murder has not been solved. McCool operated printing and office supply Businesses in Pine Bluff. He served a prison term about five years ago for forging state warrants.

The 81 individual and corporate creditors have filed claims against the estate totaling about $250000.

Dawson held a preliminary hearing on these claims Wednesday. He allowed 25 of them but denied 39 because no representative of the claimants was present.

Dawson set a hearing for Thursday on a suit filed by Noah Peek Jr. of England who contends some of the machines in McCool's two businesses belong to him.

Mrs. Norris died about three hours after the mishap occurred.

Saddle Given to Foundation

The newest attraction in the Old Blacksmith Shop in Pioneer Washington is a saddle. This was presented to the Foundation by Mr. Dave B. Coulton, Ogden, Arkansas.

R. T. Frazer of Sharon Springs, Colorado, saddle maker for the King of Belgium and other members of the royal family, as well as for the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, made this one especially for Mr. Coulter in 1902.

At that time, Mr. Coulter, 20 years old, was enroute from Enid, Oklahoma with a trail herd, bound for Fort Benson, Montana. In crossing Cat Creek, into Montana he passed through Custer's Battlefield, fourteen years after the massacre. There he picked up souvenirs, two of which were said to be ornaments from Indian bridles. These are now nailed to the saddle.

Mr. Coulter has treasured the saddle for sixty years. It has been in use for the last 23 years in Little River County, where the donor has been in the cattle business. He says: "I would not take money for it today, but am giving it to the Foundation only to have it preserved so that my grand children and other children may have the privilege of seeing and knowing what a cowboy really called a saddle."

U.S. Sends Up Rocket to Take Moon Pictures

By HOARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A towering rocket thundered skyward today in an attempt to send the Ranger 5 spacecraft a quarter of a million miles to a landing on the moon.

The mission of the gold-and-silver-plated spacecraft is to send back closeup television pictures of the moon's surface before landing the first active instrument package. This would measure moonquakes and meteor hits.

If all goes well Ranger 5 will streak through space for 70 hours and reach the moon about midday Sunday.

The shot was postponed twice this week, first by technical trouble and then by the threat of Hurricane Ella. But the hurricane changed course and the launching was rescheduled.

The Atlas-Agena B rocket, 102 feet tall and weighing nearly 150 tons, blasted away from Cape Canaveral at 11:59 a.m. (EST).

The huge booster lifted straight off its pad. Within 10 seconds it vanished into a low-hanging cloud bank.

If the inquisitive payload succeeds on it's 231,500-mile trip it will be the first of a long line of unmanned spacecraft intended to learn what the moon is like and locate suitable landing areas for American astronauts later in this decade.

Ranger 5 was equipped with a television camera and other devices to help unravel lunar mysteries which have puzzled scientists and astronomers for centuries.

It could answer such questions as: What does the moon look like close up? What are some of its surface components? Is it shaken by moonquakes, and pounded by meteorites? Is it a dustbowl, or does it have a rock-hard crust?

The intended landing area was near the giant crater Copernicus just above the lunar equator on the left side of the moon as seen from earth.

The flight plan called for:

A ground station at Goldstone, Calif., to send a radio signal 16 hours after launching to fire a small spacecraft motor to point Ranger 5 onto a collision course with the moon.

The payload to approach the moon Saturday morning and begin taking television pictures of the lunar landscape from a distance of 2,500 miles transmitting one to earth every 13 seconds until it is within 15 mles, a perod of approximately 35 minutes.

A 92-pound instrument sphere to eject from the craft at the 15-mile altitude and be slowed by a braking rocket so it hits the moon at a speed no greater than 150 miles an hour and survives.

The main body of the spacecraft to crash on the moon at 6,000 miles an hour, destroying the television camera and two other experiments: a radar altimeter to measure the moon's radar reflection properties and a gamma ray spectrometer to record

Foreign Policy Big Issue In Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Campaign sniping over foreign policy still flashes between Republican and Democratic lines.

Speaker John W. McCormack D-Mass. concentrating his fire on GOP attacks against the administration's Cuban policy said Wednesday Prime Minister Fidel Castro "could not have got into power without the direct or indirect aid of our government during the Eisenhower administration."

And the Republican National Committee zeroed in on a new target. It charged the New Frontier had woed a "neutral" and won an enemy in President Sukarno of Indonesia.

"Does anyone now believe the New Frontier has either the wisdom or experience to cope with the international problems of today?" asked a statement in the Republican committee publication "Battle Line."

The cannonading over foreign policy has been growing hotter as the Nov. 6 election draws nearer with President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower joining in the firing.

Eisenhower has called Kennedy's foreign policy too sad to talk about. Kennedy aiming in the general direction of Sen. Homer Capehart R-Ind. railed at rash talk and "those self-appointed generals and admirals who want to send someone else's son to war."

McCormack replying to a Republican National Committee statement which charged the administration with "tragic irresolution" in dealing with Castro said Kennedy is "doing everything he possibly can short of war to meet the Cuban situation that he inherited from President Eisenhower."

'Blue Eyes' Research Wins Award

STOCKHOLM Sweden (AP)—Three biochemistst wo of them Britons and the other a Harvard professor were awarded the 1962 Nobel Prize for medicine today for their research into the secrets of life—including why a blond child's eyes are blue.

Dr. James Dewey Watson the youngest at 34 is a professor of biology at Harvard University; Dr. Francis Harry Compton Crick 46 is attached to the Institute of Molecular Biology at Cambridge England; Dr. Maurice Hugh Frederick Wilkins 46 is deputy director of Biophysics Laboratory at King's College London.

Dr. Wilkins presently is working at Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York.

Dr. Watson received his Ph.D. degree from Indiana University in 1950 was National Science Foundation fellow in Copenhagen in 1951 and studied at Cambridge England in 1951 and 1952.

The three were cited "for their discoveries concerning the molecular structure of nucleic acid and its significance for information transfers in living material" which means it adds to the world's knowledge about heredity.

Basically the work was a study of the gene the entity which is concerned with the transmission and development or determination of hereditary characteristics.

The award for medicine is the one of five Nobel prizes awarded under the terms of the will of Alfred Nobel Swedish inventor dynamite who died in 1896. The other prizes are for literature chemistry physics and peace.

This year's awards are worth 257219 Swedish crowns—$49656.

The joint winers of the prize for medicine were heralded for their discovery of the three-dimensional structure of nucleic acid.

The announcement said this discovery "will have far-reaching consequences in biology and medicine. Research workers all over the world are busy trying to decipher the biological code in all its varieties and the breakthrough for this most fundamental problem is the discovery of the molecular structure of deoxyribonucleic acid made by this year's awardees."

Faubus to Discuss Amendment 51

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday he will come out soon with a list of reasons why proposed Amendment 51 should be adopted Nov. 6.

The amendment would guarantee that no child is deprived of a public school education for refusing to attend an integrated school.

The governor's remarks followed a charge Tuesday by Eugene Warren attorney for the Arkansas Education Association that the amendment might endanger the state's pupil assignment law which has been used to hold down integration.

Warren termed the proposal useless and dangerous.

Faubus said he felt Warren's view was wrong.

The governor submited the amendment to the 1961 Legislature which certified it to the ballot.

Arkansas Gets Four Industries in One Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The impetus of Arkansas' industrial drive was demonstrated graphically by developments reported in four cities this week.

In rapid succession:

Monticello approved a $1.1 million bond issue to build a sawmill to employ 100 and produce an annual payroll of $500,000.

Sheridan approved a $550,000 bond issue to finance moving the Reynolds Gas Regulator Co. from Evansville Ind. to Sheridan creating 150 jobs and a payroll of $650,000.

Fort Smith announced acquisition of a new iron works which will employ 35 persons.

Malvern set an election for Nov. 20 on a proposed $1 million bond issue to finance a shoe plant which will employ 500 with a payroll of $150,000 a year.

On another front Frank Cantrell executive vice president of the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce fired a blistering letter to the federal Census Bureau criticizing a report which predicted Arkansas would lose 19.5 per cent of its population by 1980.

State officials and industrial leaders have contended for some time that Arkansas has arrested the population loss reflected in the 1960 census and is again beginning to gain population.

McClellan Hits U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON (AP —Sen. John McClellan D-Ark. said that deficient spending borders on being a criminal act.

McClellan made the comment Wednesday during a press conference which had been called in an effort to publicize his new book "Crime Without Punishment."

The senator said that he did not believe "this nation can go continuously into debt without jeopardizing the welfare of generations to come."

"We of this generation who have the responsibility of government are by carelessness ineptness and indifference imposing a burden on the next generation and the generation after that" he said.

He added that the fiscal carelessness that he said existed involves "irresponsibility to a large degree and may even border on the criminal."

He suggested that Congress create a joint committee on the budget staffed with investigators and accountants to watch federal agency spending.

AP&L Seeks to Buy System

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Power & Light Co. asked the Public Service Commission Wednesday for authority to buy the Elaine Utilities Co. for $150,000. AP&L said it has been operating the Elaine power system since 1947 under a $12000-a-year lease.

Rain No Harm to State Crops

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Weekend rainfall did not greatly hamper harvesting of Arkansas' 1962 crop the Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The federal-state agency said in its weekly crop report that cotton is 62 per cent harvested with some counties having only 15 per cent remaining in fields.

About 82 per cent of the rice crop has been combined and many farmers have completed their harvest. Yields for the year should set records the agency said.

Only a small percentage of the soybean crop has been harvested because the bulk of soybean acreage is in mid-season varities which are just beginning to mature.

3 Killed in Plant Blast in Utah

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

BACCHUS Utah (AP) — Three men were killed and 18 injured Wednesday in an explosion of 4,000 pounds of rocket fuel—the second in less than two months at the Hercules Powder Co. plant here.

An explosion of 3000 pounds of experimental rocket fuel Aug. 23 also killed three men.

Killed Wednesday were Larry Larsen 26 and Charles Eutsler 30 both of Salt Lake City and Grant C. Terry 36 American Fork Utah. They were inside or just outside a 20-by-30 foot frame and concrete block building used for preparation of solid fuel when the blast occurred.

The explosion left only a hole in the ground where the building had stood. Cause of the blast has not been determined.

The plant manager R. C. Tucker said the firm's production of solid propellant for Polaris and Minuteman missiles would not be affected. No rocket engines were damaged he said.

The blast sent a fireball and a mushrom-shaped cloud of smoke and debris shooting about the plant 15 miles southwest of Salt Lake City. It shook homes five miles away.

An adjacent concrete block building used for mixing missile fuel was heavily damaged. Another structure 400 yards away housing a 25 million electron-volt X-ray machine was slightly damaged.

Of the 18 injured only four were hospitalized.

Most of the injured were hit by debris or suffered from concussion of the blast.

Authorities said further damage was avoided because the destroyed structure was barricaded and sat on a small hill slightly above adjacent buildings. All but the roof was covered with dirt.

There was no estimate of damage.

Mississippi Will Adjust, Hays Says

Hurricane Ella Heading North, E. Coast Braces

MIAMI Fla. (AP)Ella whose hurricane eye is 100 miles across churned the Atlantic into fierce seas today from southern Florida to New Jersey with gales reaching out 600 miles in all directions.

The slow-moving tropical storm the season's fifth continued its northerly movement at 7 miles per hour somewhat slower than Wednesday.

At 8 a.m. the storm was located 30 miles south of Cape Hatteras N.C.

Ella's 90-mile center winds were forecast to increase.

Gale warnings were displayed from Nags Head N.C. to Georgetown S.C. Small craft from Cape May N.J. to Miami Fla. were warned to remain close to shore.

Ships 90 miles off the Carolina coasts reported gales and seas to 11 feet Wednesday night. Ella's fringe winds tousled Daytona Beach Fla. with 40-mile gusts as the hurricane churned along about 325 miles from the Florida East Coast.

Ella's north-northwest course began Tuesday afternoon. Before that the storm zigzagged between north and west as it gathered strength in a gradual rise toward the hurricane status it reached Wednesday.

Gales were predicted from Georgetown S.C. northward today and all interests from Georgetown to the Carolina Capes were urged to keep in touch with Weather Bureau warnings on Ella.

Vessels in Ella's path were advised to use caution.

If Ella reaches the U.S. mainland she will be the first tropical storm this year to do so. Predecessors broke up or turned seaward before hitting land.

Plant Order Set Aside By Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A federal court order directing manufacturing plants at Rector and Walnut Ridge Ark. to move back to St. Louis has been set aside an attorney for the firms said Wednesday.

The lawyer Bernard A. Barken of St. Louis said the order was withdrawn after the firms—Blades Manufacturing Co. of Rector and Southern Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge—made a settlement with the International Association of Machinists.

Barken said the settlement involved payment by the firms of severance pay to employes who lost their jobs when the plants moved from St. Louis in 1960.

The related firms manufacture missile and aircraft parts. A company spokesman said the Walnut Ridge plant has been closed since July with some of its operations transferred to Rector.

The IAM has unfair labor practices complaints against both plants pending before the National Labor Relations Board.

W. C. Harris of Little Rock Ark. a spokesman for the IAM said the union won representation elections at both plants but had been unable to negotiate a contract at either one.

The complaint against the Rector plant Harris said involves the firing of 33 employes who participated in a one-day protest walkout last March. He said the plant now has about 85 employes.

At Walnut Ridge the union contends the July shutdown was unfair and the company had refused to bargain with the union in good faith.

Barken declined to comment on either of the unioncomplaints.

radioactive characteristics of lunar rocks.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The launch crew ticked off the countdown today as the United States prepared to propel a Ranger 5 spacecraft to the moon to take pictures and gather scientific data.

A thick blanket of clouds and 20-mile wind gusts—fringe effects of the tropical storm Ella—plagued the launch area as the countdown started. But officials were hopeful of favorable weather conditions during the scheduled launch period a 2-hour 40-minute span starting at 11:38 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

A Minuteman missile which exploded Wednesday night did not affect the Ranger 5 or its Atlas-Agena B launch vehicle on a pad two miles away. A Jupiter missile was damaged severely when a flaming chunk of Minuteman landed on its pad.

Ranger 5 was ticketed for a 231,500-mile 70-hour journey to the moon.

The flight plan called for the vehicle to approach the moon about midday Sunday snap a total of about 140 television pictures relay them back to earth and land an instrument capsule to register moonquakes and other lunar seismic disturbances.

A Ranger 5 success would end four years of frustrating moon launching efforts by the United States. Eight attempts to send payloads to or around the moon have failed.

Earlier this year Ranger 3 missed the moon by 2222 miles and Ranger 4 crashed on the backside without sending desired data or pictures. Both were identical to Ranger 5.

The latest U. S moon effort encountered trouble earlier this week. A technical problem with the spacecraft forced a postponement on Tuesday first day of a four-day period in which the moon is in a favorable position for launching. The shot was reset for Wednesday but the threat posed by Hurricane Ella prompted the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to put the flight off until the next favorable firing period starting Nov. 15.

But a shift of Ella to a more northerly course away from Cape Canaveral resulted in the Ranger 5 shot being rescheduled.

Looks Like Lausche, Taft in Ohio

Editor's Note—This is one of a series of stories highlighting key political contests in advance of next month's elections.

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio seems almost sure to re-elect Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche and choose Republican Robert Taft Jr. for its new congressman-at-large. But the race for governor has everyone guessing.

That, in a capsule, is the political situation as the pivotal Buckeye State braces for an expected flood of charges and counter-charges in the last two weeks of a strange, but rugged, gubernatorial campaign.

Rivals for the votes of a seemingly apathetic public are incumbent Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Republican State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

A year ago, political observers were almost unanimous in their belief that DiSalle's first four-year term as governor also would be his last. Many of them still give Rhodes the edge in their forecasts, primarily because of the "High Tax Mike" tag the GOP has sought to hang on Disalle.

But others feel that two personal appearances by President Kennedy in Ohio already this year—with others in the offing before the campaign is over—indicate DiSalle still has a strong chance for re-election.

Lausche's opponent is John Marshall Briley of Toledo, who quit as vice president and general counsel of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Co., to make his successful bid for the Republican nomination for the Senate. Bailey, 57, is a former New York specialist in international law who moved to Ohio 10 years ago. It is his first bid for office.

As a virtual political unknown, however, he figures to have an almost impossible job on his hands in the contest with Lausche.

Taft, 45, son of the late "Mr. Republican," still wears the "junior" label, but does not use the initial "A" in his name. He stepped out of his important role as majority leader of the House in the Ohio General Assembly to make the Congress-at-large race.

Ohio, entitled to a 24th member of the U.S. House on the basis of the 19660 census, is electing a congressman-at-large because the 1961 General Assembly failed to create a newidistrict.

In last May's primary election, the Democrats had a mob-scene race for the Congress-at-large nomination. Out of the 11 candidates emerged Richard D. Kennedy, 39, Cleveland real estate man, as the nominee. He was unknown politically.

Because his views on civil rights, particularly in the field of housing, are more conservative than those of his party in Ohio, Kennedy now finds himself without party endorsement. DiSalle has said publicly he will not vote for Kennedy. DiSalle did not say, however, that he intends to vote for Taft. That would indicate a Kennedy boycott, with Democrats planning to let the congress-at-large seat go to Taft by default.

City Irked by Time Magazine

PARIS Ark. (AP)—Irked by an article in Time magazine the Paris Chamber of Commerce has invited the writer to visit northwest Arkansas and see it is not a "Impoverished scantily settled land."

Kelly Young chamber manager said he had written Time offering to pay the writer's expenses for the trip.

The reference to norhtwest Arkansas was contained in a Time article on Arkansas River development in the Oct. 12 issue.

"We feel the article creates a false impression of northwest Arkansas and is typical of the popular misconception of our state as a whole Yount said.

"The very section he implies as being impoverished includes Fort Smith the second largest city in the state and one of the leading industrial developing cities in the South and Fayetteville the home of our state university."

Youths Charged for Grand Larceny

YELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Two Illinois teen-agers who led police on a six-hour land and water chase have been charged with grand larceny in the theft of a boat used to elude officers.

Prosecuting Attorney Joe Villines said the two—Robert Glines 19 and Robert Smith 18—would be arraigned within the next week. They are in the arion County Jail at Yellville.

Villines said Missouri authorities will probably charge the boys with auto theft but warrants for their arrest have not been received.

Glines and Smith were arrested Monday after stealing a car at St. James Mo. driving it to Bull Shoals Lake and then stealing the boat.

They were captured about four miles up the lake after police gave chase in another boat.

Arkansas has 5,538 miles of city streets.

Carriers All Up Amount of Freight

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The competitive fight between the various forms of for-hire transportation—rails, trucks, planes, barges, pipelines—waxes steadily. But just as heated at times is the battle over the inroads into the field by private carriage.

The growth of private hauling of goods and supplies over the nation's highways may have added to traffic jams to your annoyance. It also has raised the tempers of the regulated carriers.

Who is getting hurt and how muchb And why do some business firms turn to their own trucks while others stick to for-hire transportation?

A research team of the Transportation Center at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., fed into a computer the replies of 1,100 manufacturers to their queries on the subject. The answers may shed some light on a controversy noted for generating heat.

The unregulated motor carriers have grown faster since the war than the regulated carriers as a whole. But the team says that, in terms of tonnage, the common motor carriers have grown about as fast as have corporations' own fleets of trucks, even though trucking firms think otherwise.

And the replies indicate the real battle has been between these two, the for-hire and the do-it-yourself motor haulers. Firms using their own trucks tend to concentrate on short-haul movements of freight, and thus compete less than some may think with the rails, which get their big volume on the longer than 200-mile freight movement.

But the volume of private carriage is growing. The survey shows one-third of the firms replying increased their use of private carriage in proportion to their total tonage in recent years, while 23 per cent did not, and the remainder kept about the same proportion.

Altogether about 32 per cent of motor freight tonnages moved by private carriage in 1961, according to the replies. The private fleets were mostly modest—59 per cent of the firms used four or fewer vehicles.

The biggest use of private fleets was in the food industries. Such usage was reported by less than a third of those in the instrument, electrical machinery, leather, textile and apparel industries.

Firms using their own trucks to haul their supplies gave three situations in which they find this most profitable: 1. When prices charged by suppliers are greater than private costs of production; 2. When the firm wants a certain quality of goods or service not offered by suppliers; and 3. When the firm desires managerial control over the supply of some productive input.

The Transportation Center plans a private conference the end of this month to discuss the findings and the problems.

Sit-in Sentences Are Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sentencing of six Negro college students convicted in a Nov. 30, 1960 sit in demonstration in Little Rock was delayed for a ninth time by Municipal Judge Quinn Glover Tuesday.

The judge is waiting for an Arkansas Supreme Court ruling on constitutionality of the law under which the youths were convicted.

The Supreme Court has under consideration the case of a seventh student who was arrested and convicted at the same time as the six.

Glover fined that student $509 and sentenced him to six months in jail to form the basis for an appeal case. The Supreme Court has had the case more than one year.

RED HERRING?—Cuba has announced that Russia will build a $12 million fishing port for Soviet herring trawlers. Official statement says it will be built at Havana, but speculation continues to center on city of Banes, spotted on Newsmap. Work crews are already installing a shore-to-ship missile base there, according to U.S. experts. It is about 85 miles from the American naval base at Guantanamo. Soviet fishing boats have been known to carry complex electronic gear to monitor U.S. missile shots from Cape Canaveral range.

Trimble Opens His Campaign

LINCON Ark. (AP) — Rep. J. U. Trimble D-Ark. of Berryville opened his campaign for re-election in Lincoln Wednesday with a slap at what he termed "right wing Republican claims that I am a liberal."

Trimble said if favoring water and soil conservation is liberalism then "I plead guilty."

Speaking to a crowd of about 200 Trimble said the United States is at a critical period in its history.

"If the Communist threat is to be met this nation must remain strong economically" he said. "The Democratic party has the background the determination and the experience to keep the nation powerful."

Trimble is opposed this year by Republican Cy Carney Jr. of Fayetteville.

Power Is Gaining Against Cancer

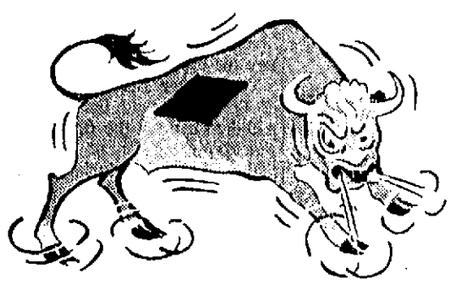

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor-producer Dick Powell, fighting cancer, stepped out of the presidency of Four-Star Television telling stockholders:

"I am not a damned bit scared I am not resigning the presidency for health purposes."

Stockholders Tuesday elevated Powell to chairman of the board and elected Thomas J. McDermott, chief vice president, as president. The changes were made at Powll's request.

Powell told a hushed stockholders' meeting that he is gaining on his battle against cancer. He brought up the subject of his health.

This Time It the Wife Who Strays

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My wife and I have every reason to be happy — save one; she two-times. Why, is beyond me; I love her madly. Our children are normal, healthy and likable. Our home, which we own, is handsomely furnished. I buy her nice clothes; we have a fine car; and still she isn't satisfied. Last year she took a job as a receptionist. Like an idiot, I not only let her but helped do the housework; went to the laundromat with the wash, mopped floors and gave our youngest its daily bath. Then she demanded I turn over my weekly salary to her. Now she wants me to find another job which pays more even though I'm very happy at my present work.

But all of this is as nothing compared to my worry over a certain big shot she secretly dates. I've never seen him but mutual friends say he's a spender. It was from them I learned of my wife's clandestine romance. If she had only confided in me I might feel better but being kept in th dark has me worried sick; in the dark has me worried sick; get over this sickness of heart and body? Where have I failed? My hand shakes so I can hardly write this letter. —Disturbed

Dear Disturbed: You can preach duty till you're blue in the face but that's not going to win back your wife's love. Granted that she is a poor, misguided woman with hardly a shred of decency left, else she wouldn't behave as she does, yet the fault is not all hers. A wife wants a man, not a mouse, for a husband. Assert yourself. Tell her that unless she lives up to her marital vows, you're through. Mean this when you say it. Start as of now.

Instead of handing her your salary check, bank it. If she wants to work, let her pay for a part-time houseworker and baby sitter. Managing the home is her responsibility, not yours. Instead of mopping floors, lugging laundry and bathing baby, impress her with an occasional gift — something she would not ordinarily buy. Take her dining and dancing. Make an occasion of it by sending her a special corsage. In other words, revive those old courting days. Read the books recommended in my leaflet on "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: My small son is overly immature, yet very intelligent. Although by seven he could qualify for the third grade, one moment he talks silly, the next like a Harvard professor. The only time children his own age notice him is when they pelt him with pebbles as he passes. I want my child to be normal and liked by others; but other children shun him. I try to be a substitute playmate but it's not the same. The situation is getting me down. I have become nervous and jumpy and he disobedient, having only lately taken to lying and creating scenes. What can I do for this lonely, precocious little boy who finds himself a square peg in a round hole? —Distraught Mother

Dear Distraught: To a great extent children mirror their elders. Relax. Learn to control your nerves (it can be done) before speaking to your little boy and then be sure it is done in a firm, quiet tone. Children, like animals, are supersensitive to the quality of voice. Accept the fact that he has a high IQ and don't try to pair him off with children his own age unless they are of equal intelligence.

Those who gang up against him do so out of fear. They shower him with pebbles because he is different and therefore a menac. It's a vicious circle. He lies and creates scenes because he is on the defensive. Build up his deflated ego by giving him a chance to prove himself. Consult your local Board of Education about a school class for children such as he. Once he finds his level e will develop into a happy, normol child.

Dear Helen: My mother is overpossessive. As I am her only son, this is understandable but helps neither of us. After father died I foolishly gave up my room at my club and moved back into the family home. Now, as Mama often says, she lives only for me. How can I free myself without hurting her? —Trapped

Dear Trapped: Tell her as lovingly as possible that, for her good and yours, she must start a new life of her own, regardless of you. Deliberately throw her with those of her own generation. Look up her old friends. Send her and the more congenial friends to popular restaurants and current shows. Encourage her to join civic groups. Buy her some new clothes See that she gets a whirl and, once she's launched on social waters, withdraw.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and addrss her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Mother Complex."

In the next few days you will probably notice quite a lot of activity around the Telephone Company central office building on South Main Street. The construction company moved in Monday to begin work on our building addition. The new structure will add 8,100 square feet of floor space to be used for offices, conference room and a large expansion of long distance equipment. The approximate total cost of the addition is $225,000. Also, the Western Electric Company installers began work this week to install both local and long distance equipment needed for immediate use. We are constantly adding facilities in the central office and in the field because of the continuing growth of Hope and surrounding areas. We're glad to be part of Hope, and to be of service to you, our customers.

Sure Way To Score

If I were a sports writer, I think I'd devote this column to football. There have really been some exciting games this season — high school, college and professional.

Since October is a good month for taking in one or more of the out-of-town games, you may be planning some big football weekend. If so, why not let your telephone help you "call plays"?

You'll never fumble if you call ahead for reservations, and if you decide to drop in on friends, a call to let them know you're coming is a sure way to score. You'll score again after you get home if you'll call and thank your friends for their hospitality.

One Can Do It

Looking ahead, I'm reminded that the November elections will soon be upon us.

Just how important will your vote be? Well, let's look back in history.

In 1868, President Andrew Johnson was acquitted of impeachment charges by one vote in the Senate.

In 1876, Samuel Tilden defeated Rutherford Hays for the presidency in the popular vote, but Hayes won a majority in the electoral college — by one vote.

In 1941, the Selective Service Extension Act was passed by the House on a 203-202 vote. This law provided that draftees be kept in military service as long as the government thought necessary. Less than four months after it passed, the U.S. declared war on Japan.

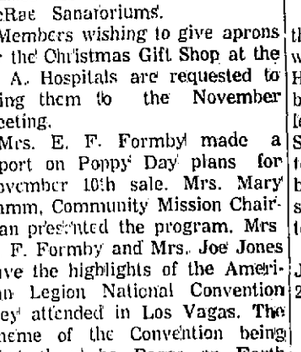

Conclusion: Your vote is mighty important. Don't neglect to cast it.

Rutherford, Vice-president presented the members of the panel who discussed the subject, "The Purpose of the P. T. A." Each member made interesting and informative comments on the subject.

Some of the high points were: Many problems affecting the child's home and school life could be solved harmoniously through the P. T. A. The P. T. A. should play an important role in fostering worthwhile community activities. The home is directly responsible for the child's early conduct patterns.

Rev. A. L. Scott, Pastor of Lonoke Baptist Church offered some timely suggestions for the body to consider.

Reds Upset Whites in Little Loop

Key penalties, a fine run and a defense struggle stood out in a 6-0 upset victory for the Red over the Whites in Little League football play yesterday.

The ground was slippery and wet and had a big role in the contest. Taking the ball a midfield the Reds were aided by two major penalties. From the 20 Koen, freed by a block by Bill Jackson, weaved in for the score. The PAT failed and that ended the scoring.

Yanks, Terry Jubilant All the Way Home

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Writer

WHITE PLAINS N.Y. (AP) — What does a World Series hero do 24 hours after he has pitched the greatest game of his life? Well, if he's Ralph Terry and can play golf he goes out on the golf course.

That's just what the 62-year-old pitching star of the World Champion New York Yankees did Wednesday despite having gone without sleep after his series clinching 1-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants on Tuesday.

Terry and 11 other Yankees arrived in New York early Wednesday morning after a 3,000-mile jet flight from San Francisco.

"We sang all the way home" said the jubilant right-hander who won 23 games this season plus two series games out of the last three played.

At three o'clock Wednesday 24 hours after Terry had four-hit the National League champions at Candlestick Park he was at the Metropolis Country Club.

'I had planned to fly home to Larned Kan. to see our new baby boy (Frank Gabe Terry born Oct. 6) but I flew to New York instead to pick up the sports car I won" said Terry. "I'm hoping Tanya my wife will receive doctor's permission to join me here this weekend. Tanya has been living with her parents and I'm sure they can handle the formula for a few days."

Terry was surprised to learn that he made only 103 pitches in his 1-0 shutout. He also was astonished to learn that only once did he throw two non-strikes in succession.

"At times it seemed like I was out there pitching for a week especially to Jim Davenport" Terry said. Davenport fouled off eight pitches in the third inning and four in the sixth. Terry had fanned Davenport four times previously in the series.

"Today? No golf. I'll pick up that sports car and try to catch up on my sleep.'

Defense Is Emphasized by Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks drilled on defense against Texas' mighty rushing attack again Wednesday in the last full-scale workout before the crucial Southwest Conference clash in Austin Saturday night.

Coach Frank Broyles has emphasized defense against ground attack before none of Arkansas' first four foes had enough of a rushing game to test the Porkers.

Texas takes a 4-0 record and No. 1 national ranking into the game. Arkansas also is 4-0 and is ranked seventh. The winner will be favored to win the league championship.

Freshman Coach Jack Davis who scouted Texas told the Hogs Tuesday night that the 1962 Texas team is "nothing fancy—just the usual big quick powerful ball club."

The status of Billy Joe Moody crack linebacker whom Broyles has called the best defender on the squad remained in doubt. Moody injured an ankle against Texas Christian 10 days ago.

Broyles said the Porkers would wear lads in Thursday's tapering off drill. They will fly to Austin Friday.

Believes Texas Will Defeat Hogs 24-14

By BILL C. SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The University of Texas Longhorns will defeat the University of Arkansas Razorbacks in Austin Tex. Saturday night.

We think it will be by 10 points. Say 24-14.

Texas of course is No. 1 in the nation and Arkansas is seventh. Probably at no other time in the history of Arkansas athletics have the Razorbacks had so opportune a moment as will confront them Saturday.

Without a doubt the Southwest Conference championship hinges on the outcome of the game. Possibly the national championship too.

If Arkansas should win it would be a downhill race to an unprecedented fourth straight conference championship. It is doubtful that Arkansas would win up the national champion even if the Razorbacks did trip Texas simply because the rest of the schedule does not leave any really outstanding opponents for Arkansas.

On the other hand if Texas should win the path to the title would not be so free of roadblocks. Baylor showed fine potential against Arkansas Texas Christian will continue to improve.

Arkansas has a great offense Texas has a good one. But the Longhorns have a defense and Baylor proved that Arkansas can be hit hard and in a hurry in the Razorbacks' end of the field.

Arkansas State seeking a fifth victory in a row plays The Citadel in Jonesboro Saturday. You'll remember that Alabama had a tough time downing Vanderbilt and The Citadel did it with more flourish. It won't be like playing the Crimson Tide but it won't be easy either. We take the Indians 7-6.

Now the AIC.

Arkansas Tech 14 State Teachers 7. The key battle in the conference rance and a battle brimming with rivalry and potential of which the Wonder Boys have the most.

Southern State 20 Ozarks 0. The Mountaineers' victory this year will be coddled in memory through another slim season.

Harding College 12 Arkansas A&M . The Bisons have shown a willingness to hit and a good defense.

Ouachita 20 Austin 7. This Texas team caught Henderson in the last half but the Baptists are smarter.

Tarleton Tex. 7 Henderson 0. The Reddies have yet to beat a non-Arkansas team.

Commercials Become So Confusing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It's those decisions that are so tough.

For instance I just can't make up my mind whether I want to get rid of dirt backwash have my clothes not just clean but clean clear through or put some muscle in my washing machine.

Is my hair normal easy to manage or hard to manage? Is it really what's up front that counts or does fine tobacco gentle the smoke as it travels mouthwards? And if so why am I fretting about that extra margin?

Do I want double-pleasure or an assortment of gay colors in my chewing gum? Why can't I get my family to brush after every meal? After all I find time to give myself a soap beauty treatment three times a day. Would I rather have the girls in my bridge club see the ugly stains in my sink or know that my little family is protected by the germicidal action of my scouring powder?

Do I want fast fast fast relief from pain of headache or would it be better if I took another pill to stop snapping at my poor old mother who only wanted to put some salt in the stew?

I tell you these are the things that keep you tossing through the morning hours. Maybe I'll just put myself on a commercials diet until this trouble clears up.

ABC will slip a new color film "A Story of David" into its Sunday night movie spot on Nov. 18 — a radical departure from its policy of showing vintage movies. The two-hour show was originally made in the fall of 1960 in Israel for a two-part television special for network use but was not ready in time for that season.

Preliminary popularity ratings tiebased on a 30-city Nielsen survey indicate that among the season's new shows the audience still loves "Lucy" best with "Beverly Hillbillies" and "The 11th Hour" in place and show positions.

Kennedy's Tour Is Criticized

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, critical of President Kennedy's cross-country campaign trips on behalf of Democratic candidates, says Kennedy should spend more time "minding the store."

Goldwater, who addressed a $100-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner Tuesday, charged that the President has spent more time out of the White House than any chief executive in United States history.

Furthermore, said Goldwater, the President's absences have been during a period when the country has been in more trouble than ever before.

Petition Filed

LITTLE ROCK (A)—Joe A. Jones of Russellville filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board Tuesday asking that it set an election to determine whether the Communications workers of America Union should be removed as bargaining agent for the eastern Arkansas Telephone Co., of Russellville. The petition did not state whether Jones was a western employe.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 49-year-old woman escaped from the State Hospital and leaped to her death from an Arkansas River bridge today, police said.

She was identified as Elefreda Galloway of Little Rock.

Police said State Hospital officials did not know she had escaped from the Little Rock unit until they were notified by officers.

She apparently had fled from the hospital grounds this morning. She jumped from the Main Street bridge and her body was recovered 30 minutes later near the Miller Street bridge, several hundred yards downstream.

All Route Proposal Is Studied

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board took under advisement today, after hearing arguments by attorneys and others, the question of whether Central Airlines or Ozark Air Lines should be awarded an air route between St. Louis and Tulsa.

The matter was before the board for the second time, the result of an incident in which an official of Central had sought a conference with Chan Gurney, a member of the board in 1960. This incident, together with a contention by Central that Ozark had improperly tried to pressure the board into reversing its first ruling, was aired in today's arguments.

The original case involved air service to the Kansas-Oklahoma area. Both Ozark and Central were parties to the proceeding. The board, in 1960, awarded Central a route from St. Louis to Tulsa via Ft. Leonard Wood, Springfield and Joplin, Mo.

Subsequently, it was brought out that Keith Kahle, president of Central, had entertained Gurney, then vice chairman of the board, in Ft. Worth and, a few days later, had sought a conference with him at El Paso.

The board investigated and found no improper action by Gurney, who said he had told Kahle he would not discuss the case with him. However, the board ordered the case reopened for another airing on the St. Louis-Tulsa route.

CAB examiner Merritt Ruhlen, after hearings, recommended that the route be given to Ozark.

Ruhlen found that both airlines had violated the board's principles of practice through their actions, but he said neither violation was of sufficient gravity to completely disqualify either airline as an applicant. He said their actions however, should be considered in the selection of a carrier.

George C. Neal, attorney for Central, told the board there is no doubt but that Ozark had violated the principles of practice. He said Ozark had been "caught red-handed."

Robert W. Oliver, also a central attorney, contended that the examiner had used erroneous figures in deciding that Central would lose money if it operated the route. He said Central was so certain it would be a profitable operation that it would accept the new settlements without any government subsidy.

Jean Paul Bradshaw, attorney for Ozark, discussed Kahle's visit to Gurney at El Paso in detail, and contended it was an attempt "to fix a member of the board." He termed this "moral degradation." Bradshaw also contended that Kahle had sought to conceal his visit.

Paul L. Bradshaw, also an attorney for Ozark, told the board that the examiner had found that Ozark could operate the St. Louis-Tulsa route at a profit of $4,000 yearly, but that Central would lose $225,000 yearly on the operation.

Kahle was present today for the argument. He had no comment. Gurney did not participate in the proceeding.

Representatives of various cities in the area presented their views in the case.

Haley Has Been Adopted by Americans

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hayley Mills had her first date at the age of 3½. Laurence Olivier took her to a movie studio.

Hayley's dating slacked off after that. But now she is 16 and like all 16-year-old girls, she has more than a passing interest in boys.

"But I'm not utterly desperate about dates," she says. "I don't mind if I'm boy-less on a Friday night. I'm perfectly happy to go out with my parents. They're fun, too."

In that regard she may differ from other girls of 16, who as a class are inclined to consider their parents square. True, Hayley has unusual parents, British film star John Mills and his authoress wife, Mary Hayley Bell. They have done a good job of keeping their daughter fresh and unspoiled despite her international fame.

Hayley's achievement is remarkable. She is unmistakably English, yet she has been adopted by American teen-agers as their favorite young actress. The Disney films "Pollyanna" and especially "Parent Trap" established her in the top rank.

She is now finishing up "Summer Magic," a modernized "Mother Carey's Chickens."

She paused on a work day to talk about dating, as practiced in England and America.

"It's a bit more casual here," she remarked. "In England we don't have the facilities you have here—the beach, drivein restaurants and so forth. A date generally means going to the theater and then returning to someone's house for a group party. Dating is done more in groups over there; it's not so much of a pairing off.

"Everything is much more casual here. I like it, although sometimes I think the dress can be a bit too casual. I see girls out in public with curlers in their hair, and I think that looks dreadful."

Experiment Seems to Be Going Good

By DANIEL F. CUFF

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "I think it's wonderful," says Mrs. Robert L. Devaux, wife of a fireman in East Hartford. "We see good movies, and it's a lot cheaper and easier than going out."

"The programming is very disgusting," comments Luis Walker of Farmington, an investment firm manager. "A lot of my friends are disappointed. Why don't they get foreign films instead of those mediocre movies?"

They and some 1,000 other residents of the Hartford area are paying to participate in a television experiment. RKO General, Inc., and the Zenith Radio Corp. are spending $10 million to see whether pay television will pay off.

The three-year test began June 29 under heavy shelling from its opponents, theater owners and commercial broadcasters.

Last week the U.S. Supreme Court rejected without comment an appeal by theater owners who sought to end the Hartford experiment.

The Federal Communications Commission had authorized the Hartford test, reasoning that the public should decide what use it wants made of the airways.

With a legal green light, the experiment now faces the harshest of critics, the paying public.

RKO General is using its Hartford affiliate, an ultra high frequency station on Channel 18, to conduct the test. There are about 30 hours of pay television weekly.

The viewers so far have been fed a heavy diet of movies, interspersed with some exclusive showings.

The movies are called "subsequent first run" films. In other words, they have played at large downtown theaters perhaps two weeks before Channel 18 gets them.

The exclusives included the Patterson-Liston heavyweight championship light broadcast live, the Kingston Trio taped live at a summer theater, a foreign-made film of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," done with puppets, and the debut of a film of the Bolshoi Ballet.

How do the viewers like the fare?

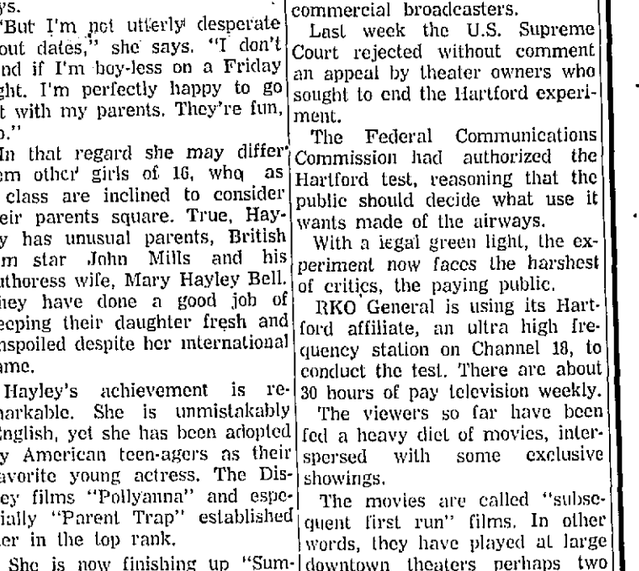

G. Harry Davis of Avon, a corporation executive: "I like it but I'm disappointed in the programming. They've got to have better programming if they want more customers. I'd like to see Broadway shows, top-grade movies."

Frank B. Demurat of Newington, a barber: "I watch it quite a bit. They've had some good movies, and the great thing is that there are no commercials."

The number of subscribers to pay television has grown from 200 to 1,000 in the first three months. The station has said it would like from 4,000 to 5,000 by the end of the year.

Prices range from 25 cents for a children's educational film to $3.50 in the case of the short-lived heavyweight championship fight. Movies cost about $1. There is a $10 installation fee.

At the end of the three-year Hartford test, RKO and Zenith will have to decide whether it will be profitable to bring pay television to a larger audience, or to write it off as unworkable.

SECRET WEAPON—This looks like a missile with wings and tail. Then again, it could be an airplane with a giant-size rocket engine. Actually, it's an Atlas missile being unloaded from the rear of a transport plane at Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M. Trick of perspective makes it seem to merge with the airplane. The intercontinental-range missile was destined for installation in an underground silo.

New Appraisal on Hospital Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus remarked Tuesday that the state may have to get a new appraisal on parcels of State Hospital land at Benton and Baucum which the state has tried twice unsuccessfully to sell. Appraised value for three tracts is $310,500. The state is prohibited from selling property for less than the appraised value.

Student Was Tool in a Race Issue

ETTRICK, Va. (AP)—College authorities differ on Hazel Ruth Adams' motives in withdrawing from all-white Patrick Henry College at Martinsville after one day and returning to all-Negro Virginia State College here.

The first school integration in Virginia's southside came to a quick end Tuesday when the Negro girl made her switch.

She had won admission to Patrick Henry last Friday in an uncontested court suit. Monday she attended classes there.

The University of Virginia, of which Patrick Henry is a branch, said she withdrew when she found that the classes she had been taking at Virginia State were better for her intended course of study.

But members of the Patrick Henry Advisory Board said Miss Adams never had intended to do more than break the classroom race barrier there, then leave.

The case "was one of comedy, tragic comedy," said the board chairman, Francis T. West. "Unquestionably she was an unwitting tool of those determined to make race an issue in a community enterprise."

Miss Adams, 17, said nothing. After coming back to 4,500-student Virginia State quietly and without advance notice, she stayed in her dormitory room. Newsmen could not reach her.

B. F. Dabney, assistant to Virginia State President Dr. Robert P. Daniel, said Miss Adams, who transferred to Patrick Henry in midsemester, discovered she would have too much catching-up to do if she remained there.

Negro Candidate Ahead in Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—A 38-year-old Negro lawyer in his first political campaign emerged today atop a four-man race for the Democratic nomination to one of Georgia's newly redistributed state senate seats.

If he wins the Oct. 23 runoff, Leroy R. Johnson will face general election opposition from another Negro. Republican T. M. Alexander who was unopposed in the GOP primary Tuesday.

THE ARTLESS HEIRESS

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: Columbine Drugget, former secretary of a girls' school now on her way to take possession of a motel which she inherited, has met some unusual characters on the train.

IV

The last lap of the journey, from Tucson to Phoenix, seemed interminable, but finally near midnight, she was there and the porter was carrying her baggage out of the car, where, according to Mr. Hoopenlooper, she would be met by a representative of the law firm which was handling her father's estate.

She stepped down upon the platform, worrying a little about her baggage. A large young man whose clothes had not been fashioned by a first-class tailor and whose features did not qualify him for Hollywood walked up to her confidently.

"You are Miss Drugget?" he said.

She looked up at him and was astonished, for he was the young man of the club car who had been jocular.

"I am Miss Drugget," she admitted.

"I," he said, "am Mr. Jones—Sam Jones. The firm sent me to meet you."

"You," she said accusingly, "did not mention it on the train."

"I didn't know it on the train. I flew here from Chicago. That's how I arrived first and was told to met you."

"You are a coincidence."

"If you will identify your baggage," he said, and she pointed out to him her new airplane case and overnight bag. He picked them up and motioned her to follow to his parked car, which turned out to be not a late model, but a sort of vintage number which never had excited "oh's" and "ah's." He helped her in, stowed the baggage in the rear and got in beside her.

"I'm directed," he said sedately, "to drive you to The Grove of Daphne." He paused and quoted classically, "'Better to be a worm and dine on the mulberries of Daphne than to be a king's guest'."

She made no reply to this, but settled back grimly to observe the midnight streets of the city that was to be her home.

"It's quite a drive," he informed her. "Would you care for some refreshment before we start? Perhaps," he said with grave face, "a glass of your favorite tipple."

"You," she said coldly, "are presuming and impertinent."

"To that," he responded, "I owe my lack of success in life."

Presently she asked, "Do I understand that the name of my motor hotel is 'The Grove of Daphne?'

"Better," he said, "than the Kozy Korner Motorium."

He drove rapidly but carefully; he swung into a broad street and after 20 minutes turned into the driveway and brilliantly lighted parking space of a lengish, low building identified by a sign proclaiming it to be The Grove of Daphne. It was larger than Columbine had anticipated, and well painted and a bit imposing. Mr. Jones stopped his car in front of a door labeled Office, alighted and came around to help his passenger to the walk.

A young man came from behind the desk and presented himself as a Mr. Simpkins, the clerk. A young woman came forward from a desk at the rear of the room and was presented as Miss Green, hostess and publicity. Miss Green in becoming sport clothes, was not lovely, but had a bright, friendly face. She did not betray surprise at Columbine's austere appearance.

"You'll be exhausted, Miss Drugged," she said. "I'll show you to your apartment . . . George, have Miss Drugged's bags sent up at once . . . Your trunks will be along in the morning, no doubt?"

"I have no trunks," Columbine said.

"This way," said Miss Green.

Columbine meekly followed until she was stopped by Mr. Jones' voice saying tartly, "Clients usually say good night."

"Goodby!" Columbine said, with significant emphasis.

She was led to a stairway behind the desk and up one flight to an apartment consisting of cheerful living room, ample bedroom and bath.

"It was very masculine when your father occupied it," Miss Green said. "I've done my best to soften it up. You'll want to make changes."

When the door closed behind Miss Green, Columbine lifted her new piece of airplane luggage to the bed and opened it.

Now she knew why the bag had seemed so heavy when she lifted it from the floor. Its contents were not clothing. There were a dozen packs of cards, a .32-calibre pistol in a shoulder holster, a leather case containing a dozen instruments of polished steel. More astonishingly was a mummified leathery human hand or ape's hand, a doll dressed in black evening clothes with several pins thrust through the region of the heart, and a tight roll of parchment upon which was printed a dozen lines of what seemed to be gibberish. And there was a bag full of gems.

Another Plant for Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Fort Smith Arkansas' industry-getting champion, has snared another plant, the Didion & Sons' Foundry Co. of St. Louis.

It is the 209th industry in the Arkansas River city, the chamber of commerce said. A contract was let Tuesday for construction of the first 5,000 feet of what will be a 15,000 square foot plant on South Zero St.

The firm makes gray iron, a soft casting iron, and will manufacture high productive machineable castings. It will employ 365 people and melt about 4,000 pounds of raw iron per hour.

John Didion, president of the company, said one of the firm's biggest users, the Baldor Electric Co., has a branch plant in Fort Smith and that was one reason for locating the new industry here.

Didion said it is hoped that the Fort Smith plant eventually will replace the St. Louis plant when the Arkansas River becomes navigable.

State C of C Protests Prediction

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Chamber of Commerce protested to the U.S. Census Bureau today population predictions that forecast the state will lose 19.5 per cent of its population between 1960 and 1980.

Frank Cantrell, executive vice president of the state chamber made public the letter he sent to the bureau.

"We would like very much to know by what process of reasoning the Census Bureau arrives at the conclusion that Arkansas will be the only state in the nation losing population between 1960 and 1980," the letter said, "and that such loss will amount to almost 20 per cent."

The letter referred to a table of population projections for states published in September by Dean Witter & Co., investment counselors who are members of the New York and American stock exchanges.

It is titled "Attractiveness of Utility Stocks in a Perturbed National Economy." The figures are credited to the Census Bureau.

The chamber of commerce said it has been trying to get projected census figures from the Bureau since July but had been advised that none had been issued. "Yet they continue to appear," Cantrell said, "with the Bureau of the Census listed as the source of the material."

If the figures do not come from the bureau, Cantrell added, the chamber would appreciate the bureau taking steps to prohibit use of its name in connection with publications such as the one by the Witter firm.

He called the figures "extremely damaging to the economic growth and development of Arkansas."

"This estimate appears to be entirely inconsistent with the actual experience of Arkansas in relation to certain other states," Cantrell wrote.

The report predicted that the District of Columbia and West Virginia, both of which recorded population losses in the 1960 census, would gain 31.8 per cent and 48 per cent, respectively.

A group of Springdale Mounted Patrol members took part this year in the annual buffalo roundup held near Ft. Sill, Okla. and found themselves in the midst of a charging cow, a pair of rattlesnakes and, of course, chiggers.

Purpose of the round-up is to drive the government protected and controlled herd of buffalo out of the mountains into winter pastures.

The Springdale group assisted seven federal game rangers in the roundup, held on the Wichita Wildlife Reservation outside Lawton

Arkansas is becoming a tree-farming state. B. A. Ryan of Camden, chairman of the state Tree Farm Committee, says one out of every 4½ acres of privately owned forest land in the state suitable for growing commercial timber is certified as Tree Farm acreage.

Ryan said this puts Arkansas ahead of the national average of six acres enrolled. Arkansas has 3.6 million acres in the Tree Farm system now, Ryan said.

Lines on life—on the human side:

Agri-scenes: Three combines in one small rice feild in Chicot County—working like mad to beat the rain . . . tourist car stopped alongside a field — New York youngsters gleefully grabbing cotton bolls, hoping the farmer wouldn't mind. Poppa with camera. Momma with smile . . . on Highway 5 south, row on row of idled crop dusting planes, empty barrels stacked beside them — marks of a summer's work.

On the distaff side . . . view around towns:

Postman sitting sheltered in go-cart—waiting for rain to slack to dash for mailbox . . . frustrated policeman sitting in patrol car three vehicles behind a signal on a busy street—unable to go after red-light runner . . . hatless balding businessman striding to work in rain with ladies handkerchief over his head. . . .

Youth panorama:

Mechanic at Pine Bluff giving third grader old broken clock out of car—then seeing his frustration, handing over a small screwdriver . . . bunch of squealing out-of-town junior high school bank members neatly separated by a series of Little Rock traffic signals—fearlessly collecting themselves and descending upon a drugstore. . . .

Harrison, "The Hub of the Ozarks", is rapidly becoming an important tourist center.

Camden Needs City Manager

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Camden is looking for its third city manager. George Lewis, who took the post several months ago, resigned early this week to take an executive position with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., which plans to establish a plant at Camden. The city board of directors said it is considering several applications for the city manager's oath.

Wives Usually a Puzzle to Husbands

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—All women are puling, but some women are more puling than others.

These are called wives.

A man generally feels he knows a girl until he marries her. It is then she begins to grow mysterious, confusing and unpredictable.

Just what is this elusive quality about wives that sometimes enchants, sometimes annoys, and always befuddles their husband.

To be specific, I asked 32 husbands to give a one-sentence reply to this question: "What is the thing you find hardest to understand about your wifeb"

Well, the husbands had been in bondage from periods varying from four months to 39 years, and their answers showed a wide, wide range.

The four-month husband expressed surprise that his bride expects him to agree with her views on everything from the outcome of movies to the personalities of people and the expenses of furnishing an apartment.

Chastened by experience, the 39-year veteran in marital harness wondered only, "Why won't my wife pay my club dues like other wives do?"

Gallantry is by no means dead in husbands. Seven, married from 1½ years to 37, voiced profound gratitude. Theywere humbly surprised that their wives had married them in the first place and, in the second place, had remained married to them after finding out their faults.

Said the 37-year husband: "I still can't understand why she tries to break her neck trying to please me—so help me"

23-year husband: "What I don't understand is how my wife has managed to stay so dumb. She still thinks everything in life is cute."

11-year husband: "Why will she believe something I've been telling her for years only when she hears it from someone else?"

21-year husband: "Why does she still talk so much? What is there left for her to say?".

25-year husband: "Why is she so completely sure that she is always completely right?"

35-year husband: "Why is it she never admits she made a mistake.

14-year husband: "What I don't understand about her is why she don't understand me. I've been around long enough."

One husband had an odd complaint: "Why does she trust me so much when I tell her I'm going to spend a night out with the boys? We've only been married 28 years."

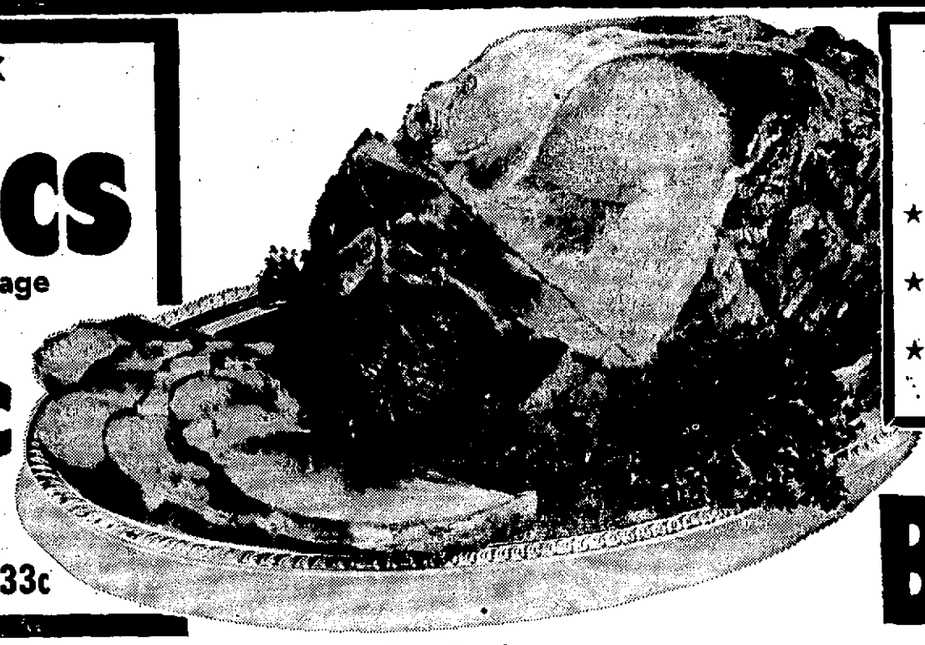

Now you know what it is that husbands find hardest to understand about wives. It all boils down to one thing: Most wives act like women—only more so!

Stone county, which derives its name fom the geological structure of the region, was created April 21, 1873, of territory taken from Independence, Searcy, Izard and Van Buren counties.

Old Movement Ready Now to Fight Castro

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —Elements in the Cuban militia and what is left of the old revolutionary 26th of July Movement are ready to take to the hills and fight Fidel Castro's Communist regime, Cuban exile sources here declare.

But these sources add that the internal resistance, which they call the only hope for Cuba's liberation from communism, is being hampered by U.S. actions.

Fidel Castro, who recently made a hush-hush tour of Cuba's interior, is reported in dread of his own former comrades-in-arms in the old 26th of July Army.

Mass meetings of "defense committees" are being held all over Cuba. The committees are part of a Communist-style, block-by-block spy system.

Cuba's economic troubles under communism have tended also to arouse disaffection even in the militia. This has so worried the regime, according to available information, that militia members get little ammunition, and their arms and bullets are taken from them at the end of each tour of duty.

One exile leader, Manolo Ray, urges that the United States make it as clear as possible to people inside Cuba that the fight is only against communism and that the United States is on the side of any underground resistance that fights the Red regime.

Ray, who claims reliable contacts with the elements of resistance inside Cuba, fought for Castro in the revolution, which overthrew the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship and became Castro's first public works minister. He fled when the regime veered sharply to communism.

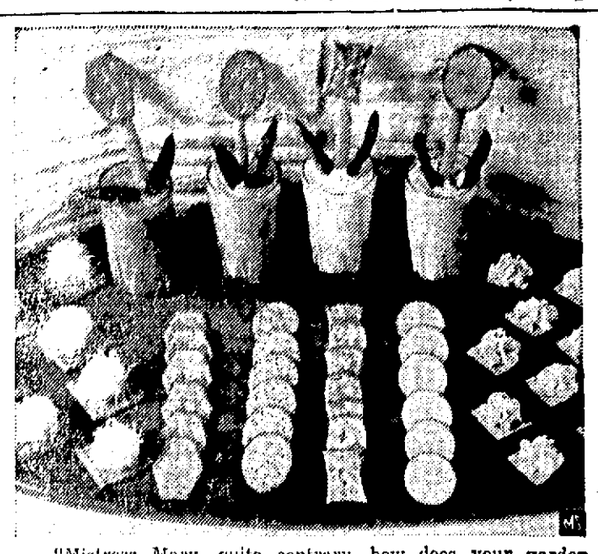

The ex-minister says he believes strategic blunders in the United States have hampered internal Cuban resistance.

One such blunder, he asserts, has been creation of the impression that the United States supports any and all Cuban exiles.

Hatred of the old Batista regime persists in Cuba, despite present woes.

He says he feels that 26th of July army men who might take off for the hills hesitate for fear that former Batista people might be among those who would move in from the United States and take over after the fall of the Castro regime. They fear, he says, they would lose their own heads in that event.

Ray says he is sure that if resources were made available to the internal resistance—men are still fighting in the Escambray hills—it could be funneled to anti-Castro forces and would pose a serious threat to the regime.

"Mistress Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow?" "With appetizing edibles all in a row," might well be the answer to this old familiar nursery rhyme question. And you don't need a green thumb to cultivate this garden. Your own imagination and a pantry stocked with those two favorites, Nabisco Snack Crackers and Kraft Cheese Spreads will do nicely.

Pictured above are "flower pots" made from jars of assorted cheese spreads—such flavors as garlic, roka blue, pimento or smokelle. For the stems, use carrot strips—for the leaves, crisp green pepper slices. Assorted crackers attached to the carrot strips with cheese spread make up the flower petals—swiss 'n ham, french onion thins or bacon thins are but a few of the crackers you can try for this. The pompons are made by rolling small balls of pineapple spread in flaked coconut. Rosettes are made by piping olive-pimento spread onto the crackers. Nabisco and Kraft on your shelf, can keep this garden on your table all year round.

Hidden Meaning Wins Handicap

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Hidden Meaning won the 120th running of the Cambridgeshire Handicap from a record field of 45 other runners today.

Hasty Cloud came second and Bewildroom was third.

Hidden Meaning, ridden by Australian Scobie Breasley, started a 7-1 betting favorite in the one-mile one-furlong race. Hasty Cloud was 20-1 and Bewildroom was 100-8.

Kinghenitch came fourth at 22-1.

The Cambridgeshire is the final race of the British flat racing season and is the last of the year to be used as the basis for the Irish Sweepstakes.

Legality Attacked

LITTLE ROCK (A) — A suit attacking legality of employes of the Arkansas Education Association and the Arkansas Teachers Association being members of the state Teacher Retirement System was appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court Tuesday. Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed held such membership was legal.

JFK's Cuban Policy Is Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Republican congressional leaders have attacked the Kennedy administration for "tragic irresolution" in handling the Cuba situation, declaring it to be the dominant issue in congressional elections.

The three are Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the national party chairman, and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, the chairmen of the Senate and House campaign committees.

They said in a statement Tuesday:

"If we were asked to state the issue (in the Nov. 6 election) in one word that word would be Cuba—symbol of the tragic irresolution of the administration."

John M. Bailey, national chairman of the Democrats, shot back a reply in which he accused the Republicans of "lack of memory" and failure to put forth any alternatives to administration policies.

He said communism took over in Cuba in 1958 during the Eisenhower administration and added: "It ill behooves them now to criticize the firm measures taken by the President to improve a situation they themselves permitted to occur."

Independence county led the state in the production of corn during 1960 with an average of nearly 45 bushels.

When Al Dengel, University of Miami place kicker, booted three conversions against North Carolina, he made his college career Mark 21 out of 23.

No. 53 Result of Faubus, Aea Battle

Advance for PMS Thursday Oct. 18 AMENDMENT 53—BJT . . . . . (Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles discussing amendments and acts on the Nov. general election ballot.)

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Proposed Amendment 53 is an outgrowth of the spirited battle between Gov. Orval E. Faubus and the Arkansas Education Association over teacher retirement during the 1961 Legislature.

Strangely, the amendment, placed on the Nov. 6 general election ballot by petitions circulated by the AEA, apparently has Faubus' backing. He said during the Democratic primary campaign that he favored it.

But "actuarial soundness" was the battle cry of the AEA during the Legislature and it made scant impression on the Faubus forces.

Actually lawmakers, caught between pressure from the governor's office and from AEA members back home, approved two bills, one setting up the AEA's retirement plan and the other effecting the so-called Faubus plan.

Both houses first defeated the Faubus plan, then passed it by a narrow margin on reconsideration. The AEA plan got top-heavy approval on both fronts.

Faubus temporarily ended the controversy by signing the bill with his plan and vetoing the AEA's.

The AEA's bill stipulated that 9.72 per cent of total teacher salary would be paid by the state into the Teacher Retirement Fund each year. This was estimated at $6 million. The AEA contended this amount was needed to make the program actuarially sound.

The Faubus bill set aside $3.7 million for retirement purposes in fiscal 1961-62 and $3.9 million in fiscal 1962-63.

Faubus' measure was not in the end presented as a cure-all for retirement problems. It covers only the two years running through June 30, 1962. It counted on the 1963 Legislature to adopt a permanent plan.

Amendment 53, if adopted, would eliminate the necessity for legislative action.

The amendment stipulates that the Teacher Retirement System shall be evaluated each year by an actuary with at least five years experience in public employes' retirement systems.

The actuary would determine what amount of state contribution would be required to keep the fund on a "sound financial basis" and report this figure to the Board of Trustees of the fund. The board then would certify the amount of public funds to be transferred to the retirement fund each year.

The money would come from the public school fund, most of which goes to local districts to supplement teacher salaries so, in effect, the money is coming from the teachers' pockets anyhow.

Teachers now contribute five per cent of their pay to the retirement fund. They give another three per cent to Social Security.

Local districts match the three per cent Social Security contribution. The state has in the past matched the retirement contribution with as much as 11 per cent of total teacher salary.

The AEA has been working hard in support of Amendment 53. There is no organized opposition.

Well engineered and housed in attractive cabinets, today's phonographs bring the excitement of new sounds in music to the home.

Files Election Suit

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A hearing is scheduled today on a suit filed by Mrs. Lois Woodard of Russellville who is seeking to get her name on the general election ballot as a candidate for county clerk. Mrs. Woodard submitted petitions to qualify as an independent candidate, but the Pope County Elections Commission refused her a place on the ballot on grounds that she had not paid her poll tax.

GOP Volleys Fired at the Democrats

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — The four Republican candidates for major offices fired spirited volleys at what they called Democratic lethargy Tuesday night at a GOP rally at Winthrop Rockefeller's Winrock Farm.

Rockefeller was the master of ceremonies at the big show in the livestock show barn. Everett Hamm, assistant to national committeeman Rockefeller, estimated the crowd at between 700 and 750, and said 150 had to stand outside the barn.

Each of the candidates concentrated his fire on his opponent, but also aimed at overall Republican unity.

"Are you ready to shake off the shackles of machine rule, threats and 100 years of one party domination in Arkansas?" asked Willis Ricketts of Fayeteville, candidate for governor.

"Arkansas has too long occupied the distinction of being the second poorest economic and social state in the nation, and I say, thank God for Mississippi for saving us from top honors."

"Is this the proven and experienced leadership that the Democrats boast of?" he asked.

Ricketts touched on his program of judicial and tax reforms under which he would lift the sales tax from food and give the county judges' judicial powers to other judges.

Carney lashed his opponent, Rep. James Trimble, D-Ark., for voting "down the line" for the Kennedy administration on 76 of 78 bills.

He said Carney voted for a $10 million aquarium in Washington and added, "Everybody in this audience that is a fish please hold up a fin."

He suggested everyone in the audience mail Trimble a fish, preferably a sucker.

Jones, candidate for the Senate against Sen. J. William Fulbright, said a vote for Fulbright was a vote for the Kennedy administration.

"When they talk about the Democratic team," he said, "do they mean the Kennedy brothers and Salinger. I don't think that's the kind of people Arkansas wants on its team."

Warren Lieblong of Pine Bluff, candidate for Congress against Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., criticized Harris' voting record and said Harris has been in Washington so long (22 years) that he has forgotten what the people of Arkansas want.

Lieblong said he didn't have to run in the old 4th District counties where the voters knew Harris, but was concentrating his campaign in the 11 counties that have been added to the 4th District, in which the voters do not know Harris' record.

Cardinals, Cubs Swap Players

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs traded slugging outfielder George Altman, a pitcher and a catcher to the St. Louis Cardinals today for two pitchers and a catcher.

In addition to Altman, the Cubs sent pitcher Don Cardwell and catcher Moe Thacker to the Cardinals.

St. Louis gave up two right-handed pitchers, Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel, and catcher Jim Schaeffer.

Says China Must Check Population

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist China will run out of food and fiber before 1980 unless it checks population growth, the Agriculture Department said today.

Development of a greatly improved agricultural program and restoration of free enterprise would lead the way out of this predicament, the department said. But so long as Communists rule China this development is not foreseen the agency added.

The department said in its report that hunger, malnutrition and famine—all brought on by three consecutive years of crippling failures in agriculture—have forced the Chinese Communists to halt industrial expansion, cut back farm exports and make emergency purchases of food grains.

Cotton Pickers Get a Raise

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The 7,241 Mexican pickers employed in Arkansas cotton fields got an automatic 50 cent per hundredweight pay raise Tuesday.

The new rate of $3 per hundredweight was announced by J. L. Bland, Employment Security Division administrator, who said the increase was mandatory under Labor Department regulations because 55 per cent of the Arkansas crop was harvested by Oct. 14.

Hourly rated Mexican workers got an increase from 50 to 70 cents an hour this year.

$1 Million Bond

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — A $1 million bond issue election to raise funds for construction of a building for a shoe plant has been set for Hot Springs County Nov. 20.

The Beckerman Shoe Corp., would locate a plant to employ 500 persons at a payroll of $30,000 a week.

The bonds would be paid off through rent paid by the company and by a tax levy of two mills for three years and one mill for the next seven years.
